What He Knew About Birds.
A little scholar in one of the lower grades of a grammar school wrote this as a composition about "birds":
"What is a bird. Birds is a nice thing to see and a nice thing to hear them singing specially in the spring time when they commence to sing. It is a lively thing to hear. What is the first thing that the birds commence to do in the spring. It is a nest of what is a nest made. The nest is made with straw, hay, etc., what the birds do after the nest is down. Why they lay eggs in the nest, and after a few weeks they have a young ones, coming out, and after a month the young ones will start out for there way."—Philadelphia Times.

HOARD CREATES A SENSATION TODAY

FORMER GOVERNOR DENOUNCES LA FOLLETTE IN SIGNED EDITORIAL

IN SUPPORT OF COOK

Characterizes Senator's Action as Not Fitting for Confidence of the Voters of State.

Former Governor Hoard of Ft. Atkinson has caused a political sensation today when he comes out in a signed editorial in the Jefferson County Union endorsing Samuel Cook for United States senator and denouncing La Follette. He reviews La Follette's work in the state, and dwells particularly on the attempt to defeat Senator Stephenson after he had received the plurality of votes of the people of the state at the primary. He says:

"The history of that cruel and malignant attempt to break down Mr. Stephenson in the confidence of the people of the state by instigating that investigation in the state senate is of too recent occurrence to need further mention. La Follette must be held responsible for it. It showed to the people two glaring defects in his character: (1) That he has no gratitude in his nature, no regard for friends when they stood in the way of his imperious will. (2) That he cared as little for the verdict of the primary law as he did for friends. This was also shown by his contempt for the law in going up into the Whitehall assembly district and organizing a bolt against Mr. Stephenson, who had won the assembly nomination over his favorite, Mr. Barker. He seems to have lost all sense of dignity or consistency or regard for the law when his own Napoleonism is opposed.

"But the last straw to break our confidence in his fitness for his place has been his gross and brutal attack upon President Taft. In this he evidently has given himself up to the idea of breaking up the republican party. We value the sane, practical statesmanship of President Taft a great deal more than we do the ambition of La Follette, and we are not yet ready to see the republican party destroyed that La Follette may build himself up on its ruins. We believe him to be an unsafe man to trust with power, for he has no respect for anything, either friends, primary law or the republican party, only so long as they minister to his insatiable passion to rule.

"For these and many other reasons not enumerated, we shall support the Hon. S. A. Cook for the office of United States senator and the men who stand by the administration for state and legislative offices."

Ready for Campaign.
Appleton, Wis., Sept. 3.—E. A. Edmonds, chairman of the republican state central committee, has returned from his annual vacation and is preparing to open campaign headquarters in Milwaukee shortly after the state primaries and prepare for the platform convention when his successor will be elected. Edmonds would give out no views regarding results of the primaries next Tuesday.

ATHLETICS WERE DEFEATED AGAIN

Footville Hands It to Locals 9 to 5 at Ft. Atkinson Field Meet

Although the Janesville Athletics made twelve hits to Footville's nine in the game at Ft. Atkinson yesterday, they were forced to take the short end of a 9 to 5 score as Simon, former pitcher for Racine in the W-I league, tightened up in the pitcher's box. Beebe and Hall worked for Janesville and Simon and Broughton for Footville. In the afternoon, Fort Atkinson defeated Footville 8 to 1. The opposing batteries were Orr, Beebe and Hall for the victors and Fairman and Broughton for Footville.

French Woman's Long Sleep

A curious case is that of a woman in the hospital at Alencon, France, who has been asleep for 30 days, and, unlike most patients who fall into a lethargy, this patient has a perfectly normal temperature. Her teeth are rigidly set, and she has to be fed through a tube, which was introduced with great difficulty, and has been left between her teeth.

PLAN FOR ENTERTAINMENT AT THE NORWEGIAN CHURCH

Ladies of the Bergen Congregation Are Arranging for Entertainment on Sept. 8.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Clinton, Wis., Sept. 3.—The ladies of the Bergen Norwegian church will give what promises to be one of the intellectual and musical treats of the year at their pretty country church Thursday, September 8th at 8 p. m. Mr. S. T. Sorenson, who won the instant collegiate oratorical contest last May will deliver the oration that won him the prize, after which a very fine musical program will be rendered. The ladies deserve and no doubt will be greeted by a full house.

The Clinton ball team went to Capron yesterday and before a large crowd of fans defeated their rivals by a score of 5 to 2.

It. T. Telfair and wife of Kaukauna, Wis., have moved here and will occupy Mrs. Cook's house on School street. Miss Phoebe Drasser will attend the state normal school at Whitewater this winter.

Samuel Pels had to quit work yesterday at P. B. Reeder's hardware store on account of a lame back.

Geo. Clapper is confined to his home with illness.

H. J. Nupper put a fine new safe in his store yesterday.

Fred Wood has been unable to work for a few days on account of sickness. Joe Gavor has resigned his position at the creamery and is now driving one of E. G. Peas' drays.

Mrs. Frank Helms of Clear Lake, Iowa is visiting her brother, A. A. Clapper.

Harry C. Cooper of Montello, Wis., is visiting his parents and other relatives and friends here.

Col. A. H. Hollister of Madison stopped here yesterday on his way to the reunion of his regiment at Beloit.

ARE CHARGED WITH BREAKING INTO CAR

Three Italian Employees of C. & N. W. Railroad Arrested and Brought into Court.

In response to a telephone message from C. & N. W. Detective A. E. McCarthy last evening, Chief Appleby and Officers John Brown and Tom Morrissey visited the bunk cars where the Italian laborers sleep; routed out Frank Potroni, Sam Larakio, and Dominick Contrani; and conveyed them to the lockup. Mr. McCarthy has for some little time been trying to capture the men who have been breaking into the North-Western freight cars. He claims that about nine o'clock he saw Potroni break a seal on one of the cars and identified the others as the two companions who appeared on the scene shortly thereafter and looked for plunder with lighted matches. All three, in broken English, protested their innocence when brought before Judge Elford this morning. Their examination on the charge of breaking and entering a car was set for next Thursday morning and bail fixed at $50 apiece. They had some money on their persons but not being able to furnish the requisite amount, went to the county jail pending their hearing.

ANOTHER PHASE OF HOSPITAL TROUBLE

Lis Pendens Suit Filed Yesterday by Beloit Hospital Against Sisters of Mary.

Another phase of the Beloit hospital imbroglio developed yesterday when a lis pendens suit, brought by the hospital against the Sisters of Mary, was filed with the register of deeds. The present action is a notice of pendency to subject the title. The hospital, which in reality has never been built, recently got judgment for subscriptions assigned to it by physicians and business men of Beloit.

OLD THEORY IS EXPLODED

Women Do Not Want Masterful Husbands Who Will Beat Them Now and Then.

When it comes to a question of disposition, says Hubert Haven Schaffler, in his series of marriage articles now running in Success Magazine, 86 per cent of the girls in the business world, stenographers, clerks, and so on, would like their husbands easy-going rather than masterful, as compared with 75 per cent in the factories.

Readers of the first article in this series were perhaps surprised to find nobody demanding in her future husband what seems to many one of the indispensable qualifications for married happiness; that is the capacity for comradeship. Not one factory girl mentioned this quality and only a very few girls of business. One bookkeeper in St. Louis added as an afterthought:

"He must treat me as a companion; not as a doll baby." A railroad cashier was the only one to reason from actual experience:

"Say, I had an experience once that gave me a lesson! I was working in the signal tower and there was a man worked there with me. He was a good looking enough fellow. If I'd 'a' known him anywhere else, I might 'a' took him when he asked me.

"Thank goodness I was up there with him all day long and I had a chance to find out. That's the way to learn a man. If some of those girls that get married could stay all day with a man for awhile, every day in the week, there wouldn't be so many mistakes.

"Oh, there wasn't nothin' really wrong with him, only when his line o' talk played out there wasn't anything more to say. We'd sit up there silent as owls. Say, maybe I wasn't glad when I got a transfer. If I'd been married now, it wouldn't have been so easy to get a transfer."

From the Farewell Address.

Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports. In vain would that man claim the tribute of patriotism who should labor to subvert these great pillars of human happiness, these firmest props of the duties of men and citizens. The more politician, equally with the pious man, ought to respect and cherish them. A volume could not trace all their connections with private and public felicity. Let it simply be asked where is the security for property, for reputation, for life, if the sense of religious obligation deserts the oaths which are the instruments of investigation in courts of justice? And let us with caution indolge the supposition that morality can be maintained without religion. Whatever may be conceded to the influence of refined education on minds of peculiar structure, reason and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail in exclusion of religious principle.—George Washington.

Generous Official.

To illustrate the attention to duty on the part of officials and their sense of justice, this story was told by a well-known writer: "Last summer I spent several months in a nearby place with my family, and was driven back to New York by the mosquitoes in October. The tax officers, regardless of the fact that I was only a summer guest, sent me a '$10,000 personal tax' bill; I took the first opportunity to call at the office to protest. The affable official asked me: 'What is your business?' 'German newspaper man and poet,' I said. Then he put heavy lines across the face of the tax bill, and with a look which betokened his goodness of heart handed me 50 cents."

Boy Runs Railroad Gates.
A ten-year-old boy operating the safety gates at the Grand avenue, Corra, crossing of the Long Island railroad, the other night, led to the discovery in his shanty of the gates—Michael Francis, either intoxicated or overcome by the heat.
A telephone message brought Special Officer G. W. Howard of the railroad and he arrested Francis on a charge of intoxication. Before Magistrate Connolly in the Flushing police court Francis said he had drunk a little, but was affected by the heat and the magistrate suspended sentence. The name of the boy who took charge of the gates could not be learned, but it is said that he worked the levers for two hours. Express and local trains rushed by throughout his self-imposed term of duty and the boy worked the gates like a veteran.

Literary Tastes.
"It's a funny thing," quipped an old subway guard, "to notice the difference between the tastes of men and women who read on the trains. For a whole week I kept a pretty close tab on the people in my car and this is what I discovered. Women stick to books—popular novels as a rule—while the men cling to newspapers. When I struck an average at the end of a week I found that there were seventeen newspaper readers among the men to one woman. As book readers the women outclassed the men six to one. Among the men three out of four seem to give about all their attention to the sporting pages."—New York Sun.

CALIFORNIA'S CANDIDATES FOR GUBERNATORIAL HONORS.

San Francisco, Cal.—Now that the California primaries are over and the respective nominees named, a bitter fight is looked for between the insurgent Republican nominee Hiram W. Johnson, and Democratic nominee, Theodore A. Bell. The views of Bell and Johnson are practically identical on public questions. Bell being just as strongly opposed to railway domination as the Republican nominee.

PUTS AN END TO INDIGESTION AND A SOUR, GASSY, UPSET STOMACH.

Take a little Diapiesin now and your Stomach will feel fine five minutes later.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapiesin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after. Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula, plainly printed on these 50-cent boxes of Paper's Diapiesin. Then you will readily see why it makes indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes, and relieves at once such miseries as belching of Gas, Eructations of sour, undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common, everyday cures, advertised that they have almost made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefies in the digestive tract and intestines, and, besides, poisons the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Paper's Diapiesin.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

When Colonel Roosevelt started out on the tour which he is now making, all sorts of theories were advanced as to what prompted him to make the trip. People who had become a little weary of the man's notoriety said that he was consumed with egotism and drunk with adulation, but inasmuch as he already possessed all the glory and popularity possible to come to an American citizen, this theory was soon abandoned.

The insurgents throughout the West were convinced that his object was to encourage insurgency and disloyalty, but they counted without their host, for while Roosevelt is a progressive leader of pronounced type, he has never been a traitor to the party which honored him with office.

Every effort has been exhausted to create a breach between the ex-President and the man who now presides at the White House. From the Ballinger-Pinchot fiasco to the "Sunny Jim" escapade, no stone has been left unturned to array Roosevelt against Taft, but the army fails to materialize, while disappointed patriots and disgruntled muck-rakers continue to disturb the atmosphere with lamentations and dire forebodings.

There are three forces which prompt men to action, namely, impulse, motive and necessity. The man who acts from impulse, may or may not be right, as impulse is a child of emotion and not a product of the brain. Necessity recognizes neither impulse nor motive because it is a compelling force.

Theodore Roosevelt is an impulsive man, but back of the impulse is a heart which beats in sympathy with humanity controlled by a richly-stored mind which thinks and plans to a purpose.

It is idle to claim that the man is now making a spectacular tour either for pleasure or glory, or that impulse is the force responsible.

The republican party is in the throes of internal strife. A family quarrel, more disastrous than an attack by the enemy, and so the force of necessity inspired the motive which prompted Colonel Roosevelt to canvas the situation in the interests of harmony.

ago, and his confidence has not been shaken.

Both men stand for the same great principles of justice and right, and the fact is mutually recognized that the life and perpetuity of the republican party is vital to the welfare of the nation.

This statement may be ridiculed by men who believe that parties are of no consequence, and that every man should be an independent voter, but it will be a sorry day for the country when party organization is ignored and personal ambition attempts to fill its place. If that is representative government, "God save the mark!"

One of the so-called issues of the present state campaign is county option, though why it should be called an issue, so far as the state ticket is concerned, no one attempts to explain.

The laws of the state are created and passed by the legislature and no state official has any voice in the matter except the governor, whose signature is necessary to make them legal. Should the next legislature pass a county option law, any man who happens to occupy the governor's chair will sign it, whether he personally favors county option or not.

The signature of Captain Lewis, who is shouting himself hoarse in a spasm of virtue, will be no more binding than the name of Fairchild or McGovern.

Opinions vary concerning the merits of the county option law and sentiment is divided in the minds of people who preach and practice temperance. The state now has a local option law which keeps the saloon out of every town and village where public sentiment is strong enough to pass the measure.

The aim of county option is to prohibit the saloon from the cities, and the purpose would be practical and most commendable if the cities were under county instead of municipal control, but they are not, and the passage of the law would in no way change public sentiment in cities opposed to it.

Results are not difficult to forecast. From a semblance of regulation the saloon continues to run in violation of law, and pays fines for the privilege, and city authorities, backed by public sentiment, in favor of the saloon, fix the price.

The outside voters, who passed the law, are powerless to aid in its enforcement, and the city voters who were opposed don't want it enforced, and as a result the city suffers a reign of lawlessness.

During the rainy days of prohibition, in the state of Iowa, the city of Ottumwa supported one hundred dives which paid fines of $100 per month each for the privilege of keeping disorderly houses.

The people of Ottumwa favored the saloon, and the common council, representing the people, found a way for them to run, and the state could not interfere.

It was a lawless era for the city where drunkenness ran riot and thirteen murders were committed in a single year. But Iowa profited by experience and today, under local option, the towns and villages are dry, while stringent laws control the cities.

These regulation laws provide one saloon for every 1,000 population. The same law in Wisconsin would cut the number down to fifteen in Janesville. They also cut out the screens, the chairs, and all sorts of games, and demand a ten o'clock closing.

The people of Janesville, and the people of Ottumwa are very much alike. We said by a vote of nearly two to one, the first of April, that we wanted the saloon, and we will continue to have it either legalized or lawless despite any prohibitory laws which may be passed.

Ever since the city was incorporated the Gazette has been identified with its interests. The paper preaches morality and urges the enforcement of law and order, but no argument has yet been advanced to convince the management that prohibition, which fails to prohibit in any degree, is as good as regulative laws, with even a semblance of enforcement.

What the state needs is wholesome regulation laws similar to the laws of Iowa, and other western states. Then Janesville with its fifty-five saloons, and others on the waiting list would be compelled to restrict the traffic and respect the law.

Many good people are influenced by impulse in their attitude towards this question. They regard the saloon as the one and only great evil, and are ready to support any prohibitive measure, assuming that laws enforce themselves. The fact is ignored that law is the product of public sentiment, and a dead letter without public sentiment in action behind it.

The statute books of Wisconsin are burdened with laws of this kind now. A judge in speaking of this matter a time ago, said: "If the laws regulating saloons were enforced to the letter no man engaged in the business could stand the pressure for six months."

Yet the men who talk the loudest are the most timid in action, and it would be difficult to find half a dozen men in the city who would stand in the breach for a year, and add the officers in the enforcement of law.

This is not surprising because so many interests are involved. The mayor said to a friend, the other day: "You would be surprised if I named the men who came to me and urged me to sign the five licenses held up and afterward passed over my head."

"These are the elements which enter into the warp and woof of public sentiment and no law can change it, until men come to realize that no man liveth to himself. Human selfishness is the birthright of humanity, while the common brotherhood is the product of cultivation."

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

By WALT MASON.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthews Adams.)

I said to the Oriental: "Your enemy comes apace, and he'll make a wreck of your swanlike neck, and rub your swarthy face, like a WEST."

he'll camp on your frame and tramp your limbs into the sand." Then the andrewed Oriental, he looked at the sinking sun, and the desert drew and dim. And he said: "Let him come and slay me, and here by my door I'll wait; for what is written in fate, and nothing can alter fate."

I said to the Occidental: "Your foe-man is drawing near; he says he will sit on your head a bit, and give you a wooden ear. He comes like a train of cars! You'd better like down the winding pike, or bear half a hundred scars!" And the keeneyed Occidental, he murmured: "O let him come! I will meet him there where the road is bare, and I reckon I'll make things hum!" They met, and the scrap was lovely; the coroner paid the freight; for what is written is written, and nothing can alter fate.

Explanation Wanted.
"Oh, you are Mrs. Blitzer?" asked the vivacious and beautiful woman, on being introduced to her. "I have often met your husband. I must congratulate you. He is always such a happy-looking man. I have noticed that particularly every time he has chatted with me." That evening Mrs. Blitzer says calmly, and sternly to her husband: "Will you be so good as to tell me what makes you look happy when you are talking to other women?"—Judge.

Let us Play Fair

To the Editor: During a recent tour of portions of Rock county, I ran onto the statement that Stanley G. Dunwiddie, candidate for the Republican nomination for district attorney, did not care for the farmer vote; that what he would work for was the support of the cities, for they could nominate him, etc., etc. I consider this entirely unfair. Whoever started the report must have done so with malice aforethought, knowing it would be political suicide for anyone in agricultural Rock county to alienate the farmer vote while conducting his canvass for a nomination to county office. Mr. Dunwiddie's antecedents were farmers, his father, the late Judge Dunwiddie, having been born and raised on a farm in Green county, and I am personally aware of the fact that the young man himself is not afraid of farm labor, because I have worked with him on more than one occasion and he made good every time.

I consider it only fair to Mr. Dunwiddie to write these few words in his favor, for it is manifestly unjust to seek to antagonize so influential a class as the farmers of Rock county by the circulation of a statement that does not bear up under the light of plain facts.

"Glad, I am Not His Bondsman"

Many a man has made this remark when some trusted and respected citizen has been found short in his accounts and the bondsmen were asked to make good.

Master Reader, are you making a practice of signing bonds "just as a matter of form" and "as an accommodation" for people who ask you to do so? It's dangerous, don't do it. It's unbusinesslike, unfair to yourself, your business and your family.

We bond people—it's a part of our business. It relieves you of responsibility and worry. Refer your friends to us when asked to sign their bonds.

CARTER & MORSE

To the Voters of Rock County

I wish to thank you for the interest you are showing in my candidacy for the office of Register of Deeds.

If you are not familiar with my qualifications, I will say that I began school teaching and left this work to accept a position in a railway office, where I worked ten years as bookkeeper and agent.

I have held my present position as town clerk for the past ten years, and during the last four years have spent the greater part of each year working as bookkeeper for the Rock County Sugar Co., my firm requiring the balance of my time.

This office experience will undoubtedly prove a valuable help to me in discharging the duties of Register of Deeds should I be elected to that office.

Let me urge you to attend the Primary Election Tuesday, September 6, 1910, and ask you to call the attention of your friends to the importance of voting on Primary Day.

W. B. DAVIS,
Town Clerk Town of Janesville.

Final Cut On Muslin Petticoats

COFFEE NOT A POISON

We hear a good deal about coffee being a poison. If your doctor orders you not to indulge in this favorite breakfast drink, you may yet drink real coffee without its bad effect by using a decaffeinated coffee. It's the caffeine that does the mischief. This new coffee is real coffee, sold in the bean, rich in flavor, used as any good coffee, in fact, it's nothing but good coffee from which the caffeine has been removed without impairing its flavor. Don't drink imitation coffee that makes you and for the day. Ask Mr. Pfenning, our Graduate Pharmacist about this. Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River Sts.

"All Wool and a Yard Wide"

"Doctor Richards, your former work for me has proven entirely satisfactory in the years I have had it in my mouth, so I come back to you for this new tooth which has broken down and needs attention."

This is what people say to me almost daily.

The proof is in the years of use which my patients get out of my work. I know my competitors say that good work can't be done for less than their schedule of prices (which is double mine).

But nevertheless people come in (as stated above) and show me my work doing good service yet.

Man's Composite Idea of Woman.
Do you think a man, your man, should make up his idea of woman from one woman? asks E. J. Hilg-way in the Delineator. He had mother and sisters and aunts and grandmothers and cousins, and possibly a sweetheart—one of those calf affairs—long before he met you, perhaps, and during the years when impressions sink deep into the plastic mold. Possibly he was better able to appreciate you because of all the women he had known before. And if he knew a great many, the greater your distinction;
and if he now knows a great many and holds you first, the prouder your place, for there must be something to him if many women care to know him; otherwise, they would not bother.
How many men and women are jealous, when they ought to be proud!

GARFIELD SPOKE AT RINK TODAY

FORMER SECRETARY OF THE IN-TERIOR GIVES CAMPAIGN
ADDRESS.

URGED LAFOLLETTE'S CAUSE

Introduced by H. L. McNamara—Representative Audience Greets Son of Martyred President.

James H. Garfield, former secretary of the Interior and a son of the martyred President, spoke in Janesville this afternoon in behalf of the candidacy of Robert M. La Follette at the West Side Rink. It was a representative audience that greeted him, and the speaker of the afternoon was introduced by H. L. McNamara.

Mr. Garfield reached Janesville from Racine, where he spoke last evening, shortly before one and was taken to the residence of George Mc-Key where a luncheon, at which several invited guests were present, was served. Later he was conveyed by auto to the Myers hotel where an informal reception was held. Many of Janesville's leading citizens being present to pay their respects to the speaker of the afternoon. Mr. Garfield praised La Follette in his address and stated he was the foremost of the insurgents, or progressives, in Washington and that Wisconsin should make no mistake by failing to return him to his seat in the senate.
He was a fluent speaker and his address was attentively listened to by a large audience.

Tongues of the Mighty.

Future candidates for the presithinned out if the demand of a French newspaper be accepted—that presi-

FAKE AD SERVICE NO. 2.

Recently there was a very clever advertising solicitor who had an original idea for "scheme" advertising, and who worked up quite an elaborate plan with the idea of going to newspapers, buying outright a page or two,
and then reselling it to the advertisers at double and triple the worth.
Of course the space was not worth the selling price, but he did not talk space in his plan. He made great claims for his scheme, he promised almost anything the advertiser wanted he would do anything to get the money, and when he got it he left town, leaving the proposition with the newspaper to take care of itself.

Such schemes have been practiced for years, and when these clever solicitors come to The Gazette with their plan, they are immediately told that the Gazette protects its advertisers and will not permit such methods to be "worked" upon them.

Recently there was a proposition presented to this paper and because it lacked merit, and because we protect advertisers in so far as that we will not permit any solicitor to sell our space at twice what it is worth, it was turned down. We find, however, it is being used in this city.

DIED THIS MORNING AT COUNTY HOUSE

Christ. T. Wick, Railroad Employee, Succumbed to Spinal Meningitis
—May Be Relative in Iowa.

Chris. T. Wick, a Norwegian who until a few weeks ago had been employed in building the turn-table at the new C. & N. W. yards under Forman E. Franson and who had been working under the same foreman along the Wisconsin division for the past four years, succumbed to spinal meningitis at the county hospital this morning. He was taken thither a few days ago when, owing to his de-clium, it was no longer possible to take care of him at Morey hospital and his mind never regained its normal plane. The remains were removed to Nelson's undertaking rooms and will be interred in the local cemetery unless relatives which Mr. Franson thinks are living either at Story
City or Roland, Ia., can be located. It is known that the deceased had accounts in banks at Harvard and Chicago and that in all likelihood $500 to $700 on deposit. There are among his children a sister at George Wick, engaged in the grocery business at Roland, which was written several years ago and a relative from a girl living in Jondala, Stavanger, Norway.

Mrs. Mary Golden.

Relatives in this city received word
this morning of the death of Mrs.
Mary Golden which occurred at her home, 1437 Turner avenue, Chicago, at 11:30 a. m. yesterday, after a long illness of three months. Mrs.
Golden was the widow of the late
Philip Golden who died ten years ago.

There are left to mourn her loss three daughters, Mary, Ada and Margaret, and a sister, Mrs. Alex. Buehler, and a brother, Michael McKugo of Chicago.
She was a member of St. Patrick's Court of Foresters. The services will be held from St. Agatha church, Chicago and will arrive here at 11:45 a.
m. Monday, and taken directly to Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Miss Minnie Mahoney.

The funeral of Miss Minnie Mahoney, who died yesterday afternoon at half past one at her home, 2 South Chatham street, will be held Monday morning at nine o'clock from St. Patrick's church.

Edward W. Zunkel.

The body of Edward W. Zunkel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Zunkel, arrived in the city from Chicago this afternoon about half past four o'clock and was taken to Oak Hill cemetery where interment was made after brief services in the chapel.

Mrs. Justin Dettmer.

The funeral of Mrs. Justin Det-tmer, one of the pioneer residents of Rock county, was held this afternoon at half past one from the late home in Hanover and at two o'clock from the Hanover church, Rev. Wenzel officiating. Hundreds of friends of the deceased were present and a long line of carriages followed the caulk, which was covered with a beautiful floral tribune to the Plymouth cemetery where interment was made. The pallbearers were: John C. Seibel, Fred Tows, August Halling, William Hall-ing, August Damrow and William Schneider.

Mrs. Catherine Furey.

Mrs. Catherine Furey, for many years a resident of this city, died at her home, 402 South Washington street, last night at seven o'clock after an illness of six months, aged eighty years. Mrs. Furey was a woman of sterling character and will be sincerely mourned by all who knew her. She is survived by two children, James Furey and Mrs. Thomas Rodgers of this city. The funeral will be held Monday morning at ten o'clock from St. Patrick's church.

MRS ALBERT KATZMARK
DIED AFTER OPERATION

Performed at St. Mary's Hospital in Milwaukee Yesterday—Leaves
Husband and Three Children.

Sad tidings have reached Janesville relatives and friends of the death at Milwaukee of Mrs. Albert Katzmark, 1521 Bayview street, who underwent a serious operation at St. Mary's hospital in Milwaukee yesterday. She is survived by her husband and three daughters—Francis, Pauline and Edith.
Mrs. William Bahr of Milwaukee and Mrs. Bernard Falk of Chicago are sisters.

DELIGHTED WITH NEW PLAY-HOUSE

BIG AUDIENCE APPRECIATIVE ON OPENING NIGHT.

JOE HOWARD SCORED HIT

In "The Goddess of Liberty" With the Songs Which First Won Renown
for Him in Musical Comedy.

Garlanded with oak leaves and great clusters of fragrant white phlox and transformed by its new furniture and appointments into quite the finest playhouse anywhere in this section, outside of Chicago and Milwaukee, the Myers theatre last evening welcomed a capacity house to the opening attraction of the season. The new arrangement of stairways and aisles, the elevation of the floor and the commodious and comfortable new seats which add immeasurably to the enjoyment of the spectator, the new carpets, new rail about the orchestra pit, and new curtain, all came in for their full share of appreciation and appraisal.

The audience was delighted with the transformation, and the enterprise, good judgment, and good taste on the part of Manager Peter L.
Myers to which every detail and touch in the new arrangement offered eloquent testimony; delighted with themselves for falling in with the Commercial and Industrial club's plan and making it a "donation party" to the extent of about one dollar a seat. The extra premiums paid for sittings on this opening night will fall far short of paying for improvements that would not have been warranted without such assistance, but they will help a very great deal. The achievement was superbly worth while and everyone has good reason to be proud of it.

A musical attraction called "The Goddess of Liberty"—one of the most dramatic of thought-provoking creations—was the opening attraction and Joe Howard, himself, was in it—singing his way back to the hearts of the people with the plaintive "What's the Use of Drowning" melody which appeals to something as old as human nature and with which he scored his first big hit in "The District Leader" many years ago. "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now" from "The Prince of Tondight" was another of his offerings which has gone the rounds and strikes a popular chord, more the city that there should be such a chord to strike. Mr. Howard was so much himself again that everybody was straightaway willing to forgive and forget all previous shortcomings in "The Flower of the Ranch" which had brought him here. In response to the insistent applause after the second act, he delivered a graceful little curtains speech.

"The Goddess of Liberty" follows
the usual recipe of musical comedy with its sketchy suggestion of a plot which is lost sight of in a maze of songs and comedy business. The music chorus is strong and proves it up in "The United Front" with Dan Hall as solist. Violet Seaton, and little Olive Artelle are the most pleasing of the feminine principals but all are very good. Miss Artelle scores in her comedy work and singing with Robert

DIPHTHERIA CASE ON NORTH MAIN ST.

Twelve Year Old Son of Mr. and Mrs.
John Joholoke Thought He Had a Sore Throat.

The twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Joholoke who reside at 470 North Main street, who has been associating with other children in the neighborhood, complained of a sore throat yesterday and after an examination by a physician was found to be afflicted with diphtheria in a severe form. The boy was sent to his home after 5,000 units of anti-toxin had been injected into his system and Health Officer Richards quarantined
the home. Late this afternoon Dr.
Richards was called upon to investigate a report that quarantine was being broken.

NOTICE.

Complaint has been made to me that residents of the city are eating the dead leaves and other refuse of

CLOAKMAKERS WIN; OUT SINCE APRIL

GREAT STRIKE OF GARMENT WORKERS IS BROUGHT TO AN END.

70,000 TO RETURN TO WORK

Sweatshops Will Go Out of Existence —Compromise Reached on Issue of Closed Shop by Adoption of "Preferential" Plan.

New York, Sept. 2.—The garment-workers' strike, held to be one of the greatest industrial disturbances in the history of American labor, ended last night and 70,000 workers who have been out since April 5 will return to work next week. By its settlement a crisis on the crowded East side was averted. Thousands were out of work and unable to pay rent and eviction proceedings were so numerous that thousands of mothers and children were on the verge of being rendered shelterless. Hundreds had already been forced out on the streets.

Wage Loss $10,000,000.
The industrial loss of employers and employees has run high into the millions. In loss of wages alone the total has been estimated at more than $10,000,000, while the loss to manufacturers, jobbers and retailers the country over has been computed at ten times that amount.

In spite of the stupendous readjustment involved, the strike has been, in the main, notable for its peacefulness. There were numerous cases of petty disorder, and a petition of the manufacturers brought forth from Justice Gott of the state supreme court an injunction in which he ruled that any strike called to demand the closed shop was in restraint of trade.

Marks End of Sweatshop.
Julius Henry Cohen, counsel for the manufacturers' association, describes the agreement signed by him and representatives of the strikers in this sentence:

"No principle has been surrendered by the manufacturers, yet the union may truly claim they have won a great victory for their people. The manufacturers believe in the union and in the principle that all who desire its benefits should share in its burdens."

One essential of this victory, and one important not only to the strikers, but to the nation at large, which wears this output, is the abolition of all contract work at home. Hereafter garments made in New York will be manufactured under sanitary conditions. There will be no more sweatshops.

The rock on which all previous efforts at mutual conciliation have split has been the closed shop. That rock has now been avoided by the adoption of the "preferential union shop" idea, for which Louis D. Brandeis of Boston, formerly counsel for Glavin, in the Pinchet-Ballinger hearing, is given full credit.

"Preferential Union Shops."
In the articles of agreement the idea is thus described:

"Each member of the manufacturers is to maintain a union shop, a union shop being understood to refer to a shop where union standards as to working conditions, hours of labor and rates of wages prevail, and where, when hiring help, union men are preferred; it being recognized that since there are differences of degrees of skill, employers shall have the freedom of selection, as between one union man and another, and shall not be confined to any list, nor bound to follow any prescribed order whatever."

HEINZE PASTOR FACES TRIAL.
Minister Who Married Copper Man to Widow May Be Disciplined.

New York, Sept. 2.—It is not unlikely that Rev. H. A. Hamel, the Episcopal clergyman who performed the ceremony marrying F. Augustus Heinze and Mrs. Bernice Golden Henderson, will be called to account for his act before the ecclesiastical court of the Long Island Episcopal diocese, of which Bishop Frederick Burgess is the presiding official.

It is alleged that Rev. Mr. Hamel violated one of the canons of the Episcopal church in marrying Mrs. Henderson, who is a divorcee. The canons of the Episcopal church are very specific, it is said, with regard to the divorce question. The marrying of divorced persons is absolutely prohibited.

MRS. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER ILL.
Physician Denies That Condition of Oil Magnate's Wife Is Serious.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 2.—Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, wife of the master of Standard Oil, is reported seriously ill. So serious is her condition that Mrs. Alta Rockefeller Prentiss of New York, youngest daughter, is said at Forest Hill to be en route here. Mrs. Prentiss is reported as much concerned for her mother's health. Dr. H. F. Biggar, the Rockefeller family physician, said Mrs. Rockefeller had contracted a severe cold several days ago, but did not just now regard her condition as approaching critical.

Mrs. Rockefeller has been in feeble health for more than a year.

A Strange Fatality.
An unusual fatal accident happened at New York when a sheet of window glass knocked from its frame fell five stories and killed Miss Lena Phillips. She was almost decapitated. The pane of glass, which became unfastened while being washed, sailed obliquely through the air and struck the neck of Miss Phillips, who was walking on the street below.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

TODAY.

Today is your savior. Being your savior, you proceed to crucify it between two thieves.

These thieves go by the names of Yesterday and Tomorrow. Yesterday is a thief of the world. It will rob you of half a chance you let it, of your peace of mind by its might-have-beens. Why should you worry today when it is too late to mend matters? Ought not you to be glad that what has happened is in the past and over with? Let yesterday go hang. Yesterday?

That day you spilled some milk and now you want to cry over it. Let it wet the ground where it has fallen and go after more milk. There's plenty of milk.

Yesterday? You made a mistake, but what of it? Did you not get experience? Certainly you will not stub your toe on the same knob and spill more milk, will you? Well, then.

And the other thief—Tomorrow. Look out for it lest it rob you not by regrets, but because of fear. "Tomorrow," you say with apprehension, "tomorrow something may happen." Let it happen. If it happens you cannot help it. But if you are strong and vibrant and fearless today you can better meet the trouble.

Tomorrow is a robber and a cheat. You say to yourself: "I will be happy tomorrow. I will be kind and sympathetic and brave and helpful—tomorrow. Tomorrow I will!"

But why not today? Do it now. This is the time—and the only time—to be kind and brave and helpful. Tomorrow you may not be here. Tomorrow it may be too late, or your mood may change or your ambition weaken or what you foolishly fear in advance may happen.

Do it today! Today is the only bright strip between the two vast darknesses we call Yesterday and Tomorrow. Permit not the shadows of either to fall upon you. Today!

It is yours—all yours and all you have. Today is like the manna the children of Israel gathered in the wilderness. It will spoil if you try to gather for tomorrow.

Why wait today to the cross between Tomorrow and Yesterday?

WOMAN MAKES NEW AIR RECORD

Miss Dutrieu, With Companion, Flies 28 Miles in Belgium.

Ostend, Belgium, Sept. 2.—Miss Helene Dutrieu, the French aviator, established a new record for woman pilots in distance and altitude with a passenger. With a companion in her aeroplane Miss Dutrieu flew from this city to Bruges and returned, a distance of about twenty-eight miles. At Bruges she circled above the famous belfry of Les Halles, at a height of 1,300 feet.

BIG OUTPUT OF PAPER

Ranks Third Among Country's Great Industries.

MANY FIRMS IN BUSINESS

Four Million Tons Made in the United States Annually—Massachusetts, Town Lands World in the Manufacture.

In the United States today the manufacture of paper ranks third in magnitude among the great industries. In 1905 43 per cent. of all the water power developed in the United States was used by pulp and paper mills.

The latest trade directories show 733 firms operating 756 paper and 240 pulp mills, representing an invested capital of over $278,000,000 and employing directly upwards of 100,000 laborers, producing approximately a product of 4,000,000 tons annually.

Besides this annual product, says Advance New England, the mills furnish freight in the way of raw materials, supplies, etc., to the common carriers of the country to an amount roughly estimated at four tons for every ton of product.

New England, in which almost a third of the country's paper mills are located, has played an important part in this wonderful development. While the first paper mill in America was established at Germantown, Pa., in 1690, the early settlers of New England soon recognized the advantages which their location offered for the manufacture of paper, and as early as 1730 Daniel Hinchman, a Boston stationer, had erected a small paper mill at Milton, Mass. At this time paper was made entirely of rags.

When the revolution broke out paper was still very scarce, and in 1770 the house of representatives resolved that the committees of correspondence, inspection and safety in the several towns be required to appoint some suitable person in each town to receive rags for the paper mills, and the inhabitants were directed to be very careful in saving even the smallest quantity of rags suitable for making paper.

Up to this time, and even as late as the early part of the last century, the process of manufacturing paper was carried on entirely by hand. In the earliest stages, after the pulp from which the sheets of paper was to be made, had been reduced to the proper consistency in a tub or vat, it was dipped out in molds made of rushes confined in a frame, and in this frame the pulp was shaken out into a thin layer, the water filtering through the rushes, leaving a well formed sheet of paper thereon.

These separate sheets were afterward taken from the mold and pressed out and dried. Great dexterity and practice were needed by the papermaker in order to produce a sheet of paper of uniform thickness and texture, the result being accomplished by imparting a shaking motion to the frame containing the pulp.

Holyoke, Mass., manufactures more paper than any other city in the world. Lawrence is another great paper town. It was here that the problem of educating newspaper publishers to the use of paper made of mechanically ground wood pulp was successfully worked out. There are about 150 mills abroad which still make paper by hand, but the process has practically been abandoned in this country.

Lake Superior Iron Ores.

The total shipment of iron ores from the Lake Superior region in 1909 amounted to 42,614,110 long tons, a quantity greater than that shipped in any preceding year. Most of this ore was shipped by water during the seven or eight months of the year when navigation is possible on the great lakes. The principal shipping docks are at Two Harbors and Duluth, Minn., Superior and Ashland, Wis., and Marquette, Mich.

Nearly 30,000,000 tons shipped from the docks passed through the Saint Ste. Marie canal and through Lakes Michigan and Huron to their places of destination, the greater part of the ore being delivered at the receiving docks at Toledo, Sandusky, Huron, Lorain, Cleveland, Fairport, Ashtabula and Conneaut, O.; Erie, Pa., and Buffalo and Tonawanda, N. Y. Most of the ore received at these ports is consumed in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. In 1909 about 23,000,000 tons were sent to the Cleveland and Pittsburgh region.

The Lake Superior ores represent about 80 per cent. of the total iron ore production of the United States.

Oil vs. Coal.

The advantages of oil over coal were illustrated in a recent trip of the Yale, one of the 22-knot passenger steamers which run between New York and Boston. The trials were so satisfactory that oil will be used exclusively on these ships in the future. Outside of the absence of smoke from the funnels is the complete abolition of noise and dust due to coal. Formerly the Yale burned on a round trip 235 tons of coal, which took eight hours to get aboard; in future it will take only an hour for an oil barge to pump into the ship's tanks the 48,000 gallons of oil which will serve for the round trip. The principal saving amounting to $500 a month, is due to the fact that eight operators do the work in the boiler room, where formerly forty-eight stokers were necessary.

The Ticklemouse

—and his Sleepyland Adventures

By Roy Rutherford Bailey with Davy and Dorfy

The Church Mouse

HARK!" said the Ticklemouse suddenly, in the middle of a rainy night nursery frolic with Willy and the twins. "Hark! what's that?"

The village church bell was ringing slowly, strangely, with faint, timid little jangling notes such as the twins had never heard before. Willy and his uncle at once became very much excited.

"Quick! Fill a basket with food and follow me!" cried the Ticklemouse. "It's the secret signal—the signal of distress!" And soon he was hurrying the surprised twins through the storm.

Oddly enough, the rain didn't wet them, though it was falling all around them. They hurried up the church steps, pushed open the door and crept in. The Ticklemouse sniffed the air. "To the pulpit," he cried, snatching the basket from Willy and dashing up the aisle. And there in a bare, cheerless nest beneath the pulpit, they found the Widow Churchmouse and her starving children.

"I rang the bell," gasped the trembling widow, trying to pull her tattered shawl over her mothered fur. "I never thought I'd have strength to do it—never thought any mouse would hear or heed the signal this stormy night. Oh, sir, our food is gone, our clothes are worn through—oh, if Silas had lived it'd all have been so different!"

"Who's Silas?" whispered Dorfy. "The Old Original Church Mouse," answered Willy. "He was always as poor as Job's turkey, but she thought he hung up the moon!"

"You're in the wrong pew there, sir!" said his uncle sharply. "If Silas had ever had the moon, he'd have brought it home to his family—green cheese or ripe. But here, Mrs. Widow-mouse—try this on your starving little ones. Think it'll put snap into their eyeballs?"

"Silas always was such a good provider," murmured the widow, munching a crust as her children gulped their food. "Did I hear you mention green cheese, sir?"

"Madam," said the Mouse politely, "we came in such a hurry we couldn't find any. But—this is Saturday night; I've a scheme!" He whispered to Dorfy, who laughed aloud with delight.

And when old Deacon Snyder passed the plate next morning, if he hadn't been so near-sighted he'd have stared with surprise at what Dorfy slipped into the collection. For the dear little girl was bound to make the poor widow happy, and instead of a penny, she softly dropped in—a little piece of cheese!

NAVAL MISSION SAILS FROM CHINA TO GATHER DATA IN UNITED STATES.

Peking, China.—The naval mission, including many Chinese noblemen, was launched by the American minister, William J. Calhoun, just before the departure for the United States. The banquet was a brilliant success.

Among the large number of other notables present were Prince Yu-Lang, his excellency Na-Tung, president of the Wai-Wu-Pu; Lord Li-Ching-Mai, Admiral Sah, Admiral Tan and other members of the navy and army missions.

The naval mission will arrive at San Francisco aboard the steamship Manchuria September 16. Eighteen days will be spent in making a tour of investigation in the United States.

TO AMBITIOUS YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN HERE IS A VITAL MESSAGE

You honestly believe the word needs you—and it does. You think it is hungering and thirsting to make use of your gifts—and it is. But not just the way you have pictured it. The world will use you after its own fashion, and the grooming process will test your courage. The school that pictures to you ease and pleasure has no interest in your ultimate welfare—it is simply after your money.

This is a practical age, and you must meet its needs in a practical way. The big business world has a work for you to do, a work for which it will pay you good returns in money, in ambitions realized, in happiness which comes only through congenial occupation.

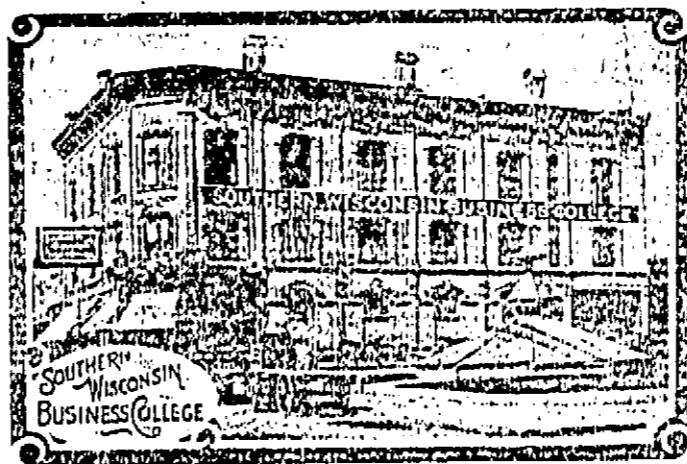

Position and promotion come through preparation. Responsibilities gravitate to the people who can shoulder them, and power flows to the person who knows how.

Promotion is the reward for those who have grasped thoroughly the science of their work, its underlying principles, and thus can acquit themselves well in any sphere of action when opportunity opens the door.

So many Business Colleges tell you that they have the BEST building, BEST equipment, BEST location, BEST this and BEST that, but they fail to tell you

What They Do For the Student

The S. W. B. C. has made a reputation of graduating desirable people, and that reputation must be maintained. The S. W. B. C. wants young men and women of good character, strong minds, and energetic dispositions. To such young men and women we are offering a training that will give them a purpose in life, a training that will always be at their service. A business training is the one thing in business that can be laid down and taken up again when needed. It cannot be mortgaged or stolen or burned. It is an asset that is better than a government bond.

Learn Chartier Shorthand

The latest system on the market, prepared by an expert accountant of 30 years' experience. It is the simplest and most scientifically arranged and brings the knowledge of accounts within the reach of the average boy or girl.

HERE'S WHAT

The Southern Wisconsin Business College WILL DO FOR YOU

It will give you a thorough, practical training based on many years of actual experience and knowledge. We know what business men most require, and we train you to meet these requirements. We give you a thorough, accurate business training in every sense of the word—a training which enables the student to step into a good position at a good salary—not begin and work up.

We know that it is just the additional little margins that win, and we supply you with the additional information to assure the biggest success.

You Will Succeed Here When You May Fail Elsewhere

We train you to be a thinker—broad and familiar with business conditions as they exist.

We train you so that your work speaks for itself, which inspires self-confidence.

We train you to know that service is not a matter of time but of intelligence, and the better you stay "on the job" the better the job becomes.

We train you to know that the world bestows big prizes, both in money and honors, for two things—intelligence and initiative.

We Prepare You For the World's Work

The world wants real men and women who can help to improve it. You can't stand still—you've got to prepare for life's work at the PROPER place in the PROPER way. Your reward will be in exact ratio to your ability and perseverance, and it is therefore necessary that your training be only the BEST. Today is your day—the day in which you play your part. You want to make every day count, and that is what our training will enable you to do.

Opportunities Are Open

I want to reach ambitious young men and women who honestly want to succeed. Our school takes students of this kind and perfects them for positions as stenographers, bookkeepers, office managers or teachers in a few months. WE DO NOT PUT YOU INTO CLASSES AND COMPEL YOU TO WAIT FOR OR KEEP UP WITH OTHER STUDENTS. Then when you are finished

We Place You In a Good Position or Refund You Your Tuition

There's nothing that stands between you and success except the START and the sooner you make the start the sooner you step into a position of prominence and profit. Write, call on or telephone me today. Tell me your plans. Let me advise you. I will be glad to place the facts clearly before you, which will show and PROVE how THIS college can help you to attain the greatest possible success in your life's work.

WOMAN'S PAGEThe Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

THE CULTIVATION of a good memory—everyone knows that's an advantage.

The very suggestion of it is a bummer. And yet I wonder if it is really any more advantageous than something else that is seldom advised, the cultivation of the opposite quality—a good "forgettery."

Have you a good "forgettery?" Can you put out of your mind the silly parody on some solemn ceremony, the wicked suggestion of some seasonal book, the muddled allusion of some child rhyme, or must they always come back to you whenever something happens to call them to mind?

Nor are evil things the only ones for which we need a "good forgettery." It would also be good to be able to forget some of the useless and unimportant things that take up our brain room.

Conan Doyle makes his world famous hero, Sherlock Holmes, say that the reason he is able to remember so marvelously the many things important in his profession, is that he at once expels from his mind all information that is useless to him. For instance, he can instantly recognize the ashes from almost any brand of cigar, but the fact that the earth goes around the sun, instead of vice versa was not necessary to him and, therefore, he forgot it as soon as he had learned it.

I certainly do not think such complete ignorance of everything outside of one's particular sphere very desirable, but I do think the ability to unload one's mind so completely of all unnecessary memories would be very fine to possess, and I wish Sherlock Holmes had explained just how he did it as glibly as he explains his other slight-of-mind feats.

Probably he did it by cramming his mind full of the things he did want to remember.

I guess that's the only principle on which a good "forgettery" can be cultivated—the exclusion of the bad and useless by the free and full admission of the good and useful.

In an article on "Mental Chemistry" Orison Swift Marden, the new thought writer, says: "That man is truly great who can rule his mental kingdom, who at will can master his moods; who knows enough of mental chemistry to neutralize a fit of the blues, to antidote any evil, poisonous thought with the opposite thought just as a chemist neutralizes an acid which is eating into the flesh, by applying an alkaline antidote."

And, then he makes the optimistic prophecy—

"The time will come when we shall find that it is just as easy to counteract an unfriendly, disagreeable, vicious thought by turning on the counter thought as it is to rob the hot water of its burning power by turning on the cold water faucet. We shall be able to regulate the temperature of our thought as the temperature of water. If the water is too hot we simply turn on the cold faucet. If we feel our brain heating up with hot temper we shall simply turn on the love thought, the peace thought, and the anger heat will be instantly counteracted."

In the same way I suppose an evil remembrance could be counteracted by a pleasant one.

I hope his prophecy is a true one.

Why not try to make it so?

STUNNING WEDDING DRESSES.

A timely suggestion for the early autumn bride. Either white crepe or soft apple satin will work out effectively in this design. Bottom of skirt is finished with deep flounce of lace. The train, beautifully embroidered, is made separate and joined to skirt under a bias fold of the material above lace, falling over the latter in court fashion. The bodice has a circular yoke and stock of tucked chiffon. Lower part is finely tucked across bust with side pieces of lace edged both sides with folds of material and put on in surplus fashion. Where they meet at waist line is placed a spray of orange blossoms. The veil is artistically arranged with a band of satin ribbon across the top of the head and fastened on each side with orange blossoms.

DOWN TO HARD FACTS

Rubber Planted on Waste Land. The white reaches of waste lands on the island of Singapore, which have been of no use since the culture of gambler, coffee, and pepper was given up, are now the scenes of great activity. Rubber plants are being set out over these wastes and seem to do well. In the suburbs of Singapore city a considerable area of swamp land has been drained and converted into a nursery for Para rubber plants, which are sold at a good profit to the planters.

STOCKING DARNER

How Fits Over Hemisphere and Is Pressed Through Ring.

An ingenious little stocking darning is that designed by a Michigan man and presented here. It is light as the proverbial feather and will be equally effective used in any part of the leg or foot of the stocking. Two wire arms terminate in rings, one of the rings having a semi-spherical member fastened to it and capable of projection through the other ring. The stocking is then placed over the member with the hole in the hose appears. It is then pushed through the upper ring and is then held taut, ready for darning. A

SLIDE HOLDS ARMS TOGETHER.

Slide, with indentations on the sides, is mounted on the arms. When the darning is not in operation the slide rests on the arms and holds them together. When they are to be held apart with the stocking between them, this slide is moved along toward the ends, where the rings are and turned at right angles so that the arms fall into the notches in the sides and thus become locked. The housewife may then give all her attention to the darning without fearing that the stocking will slip about.

SUMMERY GOWN OF FOULARD.

Among the summer silks foulard is popular, and some delightful gowns have been built of this material. A charming example is shown above, made from dotted green foulard. The thin narrow skirt is trimmed with two sets of double ruffles put on in overskirt effect. The bodice, slightly bloused, is joined to skirt under a style of silk, which finishes in loops and ends at back. Chemise and stock collar white lace and a little flat cap about neck of dress is white edged with a killed felt of chiffon-matching that used on sleeves.

Sweethearts Are Bought.

DAILY DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN Food Specialist

MILK VS. BUTTERMILK.

Pasteurizing milk injures its nutritive qualities, especially for the infant, but at the same time it overcomes a large extent the pathogenic effects of germs which develop very rapidly in milk, especially in hot weather, beginning before it leaves the stable. The net result of Pasteurizing is undoubtedly beneficial, imperfect as the ordinary Pasteurized milk is as a substitute for the infant's natural food. The opposition to cooking, to Pasteurizing, like the opposition to drugs, needs qualification. The germs in cow's milk are not its only disqualification as a food for infants, for the tough curd needed to develop the four-stomached digestive apparatus of an animal that matures in three years instead of 20 is a severe tax upon infant digestion, often completely impairing it and laying the child open to attacks of disease, ever ready, which would otherwise be repelled by the native powers of the system, supported by proper nutrition. Both these objections to milk for infants (as well as for adults) are best overcome by converting the milk into buttermilk, retaining the fat, and feeding it fresh.

Education in India. Education as now understood in India is an exotic and arouses nowhere any real enthusiasm. The Indian trader, banker or money lender has accumulated his wealth without any very obvious aid from English education, and he probably therefore does not see why he should help others to what he has himself dispensed with.—Calcutta Englishman.

Had Been Married Before. A minister was reading the marriage service that was to unite a negro couple, when he came to the question will you "Love, honor and obey," the dusky groom interrupted him: "Speak dem words again, pa'son; speak dem words once mo' sose de lady kin get de full solemnity of de meaning ob de words. I'se been married befo'."

Read the Want Ads.ALL WRONG.

The Mistake Is Made by Many Janesville Citizens.

Don't mistake the cause of backache.

To be cured you must know the cause.

It is wrong to imagine relief is cure.

Backache is kidney ache.

You must cure the kidneys.

A Janesville resident tells you how.

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, 53 Terrace St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I was a sufferer from rheumatism and kidney trouble for ten or twelve years, and during that time I had some bad spells. I did not have much pain, but was constantly annoyed by a swelling of my joints. I could find nothing that would give me relief until four years ago when I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. I felt better soon after beginning their use and my kidneys are now strong. I have not been without a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills in the house since then. I heartily recommend them to other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Tailored GarmentsFor Fall

Today's advices announce the settlement of the New York strike of garment workers and while it is true that dealers who handle the cheaper lines have had no difficulty in securing merchandise, it is the high grade manufacturers who were affected, that is, houses whose garments are made by tailors instead of operatives.

Representatives of both stores, Janesville and Madison, were in the New York market during the greater part of August, and orders placed with certain of the high class houses, who were working their plants, are now bearing fruit and every express brings along the new ideas in suits, coats, skirts and dresses.

Being the only Janesville house that makes regular visits to the New York markets, naturally our showings are always a little in advance. This season is no exception, and early lookers will find, as usual, all that is best in outer wear for ladies and misses.

Worms
"Chancere are certainly fine. I gave a friend one when the doctor was treating him for cancer of the stomach. The first morning he passed four pieces of a tape worm. He then got a box and in three days he passed a tape worm 45 feet long. It was Mr. Matt Frock, of Hillsboro, La. I am quite a worker for Chancere taps. I use them myself and find them beneficial for most any disease caused by tape worms."

THOUSANDS VISIT GROUNDS

Management, Exhibitors and Visitors
All Well Pleased With Rock County Exhibition.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Evansville, Sept. 3.—The Rock county fair closed here last night and was highly satisfactory in every way.
There were more and better displays, larger crowds and greater enthusiasm than ever before in the history of the Evansville fair. Everything passed off smoothly and the exhibitors all left feeling well satisfied. It is understood that many of the exhibitors will go to the state fair. The management of the fair is to be congratulated on the success of the exhibition for it is authoritatively stated that it will surpass any previous year financially.

Baby Show.
There was a big crowd on the grounds yesterday and the program was equally as interesting as that of any day. The droll parade of baby cubs and baby show was the first attraction of the morning. The little sons of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Bates received first premium for handsomest and most perfectly formed child under one year; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cronk's child, second; baby over one year and under two, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Andrews, first; little son of Mrs. Homer Walter, second; prettiest child with baby under one year, child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thomas, first; daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Williams, second; prettiest cub with baby over one year and under two, baby of Mrs. Arthur Powers, first; daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo.
Noyes, second. The judges were Mrs.
S. J. Tolson of Grand Island, Nebraska,
Miss Lottie Johnson, Milwaukee, and Mrs. Conrad Wiedeman of California.

Candidates Speak.
L. C. Whitford of Edgerton, candidate for re-election to assembly from the first district, Wallace Ingalls of Racine, Judge Bancroft, candidate for attorney general and Senator Hudnall of Superior were the speakers of the day and were introduced to the visitors by Hon. A. S. Baker. The talks were full of interesting facts and were well received by the crowd of enthusiastic visitors.

Ball Game.
The ball game was between Edgerton and Evansville and Edgerton carried off the honors, the score being 7 to 2. Cramer of Monroe and Hansen were the batteries for Edgerton and Reckard and Thurman for Evansville.
John Fitzgerald of Janesville acted as umpire.

Races.
The races for the afternoon were exceptionally good.
In the free-for-all pace or trot, Guy Caton, owned by C. Knebel of Richland Center took first place in first, second and fourth heats and second in the third. Bill Hanna, owned by Wm. Dyer of Lancaster took second in the first heat, third in the second heat, fourth in the third and third in the fourth while Jay Sen owned by John Cook of Whitewater and Nettie O. owned by C. Massett of Monroe, also ran. The time was 2:18 1/4, 2:19 1/4, 2:17 and 2:20 1/4.
In the 2:25 trot, Prince Woodman owned by F. Reinhardt of Richland Center took first in all three heats.
Doctor H. took third in the first and second and third while Little Blondie took second in the first and third in the second and third. The time was 2:29 1/4, 2:26 1/4 and 2:27.

If you had to run a few machines in your plant all night tonight to get out a rush order, would your power be available the same as it is during the day?
Wouldn't you have trouble getting competent help

Wouldn't it cost you more per unit of output than during the day when the whole plant is in operation?
Now if you used Westinghouse motors and our pow-

If you had our power all you'd have to do would be

TELLS OF JACK-POT; STARTLING NEWS

CLARENCE H. POLLEY IN ILLINOIS
CENTRAL GRAFT HEARING
CAUSES STIR.

BIG SUMS DIVIDED MONTHLY

Assets $25,000 to $50,000 Was Used to "Fix" Road's Employees—Judge Suggests That Charges Be Preferred Against Witness.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—A demand that Clarence H. Polley, former chief clerk of the Ostermann Manufacturing company, be held to the grand jury as a self-confessed defrauder of the Illinois Central railroad, was the dramatic culmination of Polley's long examination as a witness in Judge Bruggemeier's court, where he went into minute detail regarding his own and other persons' participation in the complex railroad graft. He caused a sensation when he declared that a monthly "jack-pot" existed in the office of the Ostermann Manufacturing company for the purpose of "fixing" Illinois Central employees.

This "jack-pot" amounted to from $25,000 to $50,000, he said, and this amount was charged by the Ostermann company to management and the general expense account.

Hoover Accuses Polley.

Following the testimony of Polley concerning the "jack-pot," the witness was released by the defense. Attorney Hoover then turned to the court and said he believed that if there was crime committed by any one in connection with the bills rendered from the Ostermann company to the Illinois Central, it was committed by Polley himself.

Attorney Hoover said he believed Polley should be held over to the grand jury. Judge Bruggemeier suggested that it was his opinion that the defense should prepare a complaint and charges against the witness.

Labor Charge Is Subject.

Methods of computing charges for labor by the Ostermann company in its bills for cost accounting against the Illinois Central was the subject taken up at the opening of the cross-examination of Polley by Attorney Hoover. The cross-examination by Mr. Hoover was a part of an effort by the defense to show that no definite percentage of the cost of material was used by the Ostermann company in computing the cost of labor, as Polley testified during the direct examination.

Startling admissions were made by the witness as to the rapidly with which his salary was raised by the Ostermann company. Polley testified that he first went to work for the company October 1, 1906, at a salary of $50 a month and that in December, 1909, he was being paid at the rate of $300 a month.

Polley admitted further that at times he received money from Ostermann in denominations of $10 and $20 aside from his salary.

Ostermann's Moves Mystery.

A question which court room visitors daily ask after the hearing is "Where is Ostermann?"

Evidence has been introduced which the state claims shows Ostermann to have been in league with Illinois Central officials and operations have been shown which are declared to be fraudulent by the state. Though a subpoena for Ostermann's appearance has been issued, service has not yet been obtained.

"He is out of town," is the only answer given by his friends to queries as to his whereabouts. When the subpoena is served on him, unless he can show reason why he should not be arrested, it is said, he also will be made a defendant in the graft charges.

DIPHTHERIA SCARE AT RESORT.

One Death and Five Cases Cause Alarm at South Haven.

South Haven, Mich., Sept. 3.—One death and five cases of malignant diphtheria in different parts of the city have resulted in closing the public schools until Tuesday. All dance pavilions and theaters have been closed and the strictest quarantine has been placed on every place under suspicion. Every drug store has sold out its anti-diphtheria serum and has ordered more. Summer resorters are leaving when possible. Many of them are in quarantine.

WOMAN SLAIN IN AUTO CRASH.

Wife of Kokomo (Ind.) Manufacturer Is Killed and Son Injured.

Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 3.—Mrs. C. A. Ford, age forty-eight, wife of a prominent manufacturer of this city, was killed and her son, Carl Ford, age twenty, was painfully hurt when a touring car, driven by the young man, collided with an Indiana Union Traction Interurban car, bound from Logansport to Indianapolis.

The young man was unable to stop the automobile in time to avoid crashing into the car, and the machine was demolished.

Boat Explodes; Two Drown.

New York, Sept. 3.—Miss Madeline Carroll, a sixteen-year-old girl, and David Holton were drowned and five others nearly lost their lives when a motorboat in which they were cruising on the Hackensack sank after the gasoline tank had exploded.

DEAN OF CHICAGO BAR IS DEAD.

Edwin Walker, One of Foremost Corporation Lawyers, Passes Away.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Edwin Walker, dean of the Chicago bar and one of its foremost corporation lawyers, died last night at his summer home in Waukegan, Mich.

Mr. Walker had been ill the last five years. He had suffered from throat trouble and from the infirmities of old age.

Attorney Walker gained distinction in his profession through his participation in great railroad litigation and in other corporation cases. He was special counsel for the United States in the conspiracy case against Eugene Debs in the railroad strike of 1894.

Before his practical retirement from practice in 1903 he had become eminent as an authority on corporation law.

MAY SUSPEND COINAGE OF GOLD.

Treasury Officials See Way to Save Large Sum in Mint Expense.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Coinage of gold in the United States will be suspended for an indefinite period if plans now forming in the treasury department are carried out. The idea is to issue gold certificates for all gold bullion and foreign coin turned into the mints instead of coining them into eagles and double eagles. It is understood that Treasurer McClung in his annual report will endorse the plan, which was originated by A. Platt Andrew, now assistant secretary of the treasury, when he was director of the mint. The reasons are to save a large sum in mint expenses and to stop coining gold at the expense of the United States for the convenience of foreign money markets.

NEGRESS AND NEGRO LYNCHED.

Man Shoots Sheriff, Woman Suspected of Giving Him Aid.

Graceland, Fla., Sept. 3.—Hattie Bowman and Ed Christian, both negroes, were taken from the jail here by a mob, led to a railway trestle near town and hanged.

Several days ago a warrant was sworn out for Christian charging him with the theft of a watch. When Sheriff Burns went to Christian's home to make the arrest his call for Christian to come out was greeted from within by a volley of shots, one bullet striking Burns in the breast and another in the arm. His condition is considered critical. The Bowman woman was suspected of having had a hand in the shooting of the officer.

RAILROAD EMPLOYEES GET RAISE.

Missouri Pacific Voluntarily Increases Wages Throughout Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 3.—Missouri Pacific railroad in Omaha announced a voluntary increase in all salaries averaging six per cent, the raise dating from August 1 and affecting all employees in Nebraska.

Officials of the company say that the increased salaries did not indicate increased earnings by the company, but rather was a recognition of the higher cost of living.

WIDOWS' MONEY USED AND LOST

ATTORNEY HINTS THAT REVELATIONS AS TO SUDDEN DEATH NEAR.

TRUST FUNDS ARE MISSING

Women Learn After Ritscher's Death That Money Intrusted to His Keeping Has Been for Speculation—Two Are Practically Penniless.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—The real cause of the late Edward C. Ritscher's untimely death last June and the disposition that he made of vast sums of money entrusted to him by confiding friends and clients will soon be made known to the public and it is believed the revelations will cause a profound sensation.

Such was the declaration by Attorney John F. Rosen, who has been making active investigations which he predicts will reach a climax soon. Attorney Rosen's entrance among the principal actors in the strange tragedy which formed the latter portion of the life of John R. Walsh's personal counsel is due to the discovery that widows furnished a large share of the dollars Ritscher's fingers picked up.

Did Not Scorn Widow's Mite.

To get money to plunge on gambling in Wall street and horse races Ritscher apparently was not above using the widow's mite. Half a dozen widows, Attorney Rosen declared, contributed their portions to Ritscher's fatal aversion. Two of these, he said, have been financially ruined by the duplicity of the man they trusted with their little fortunes.

Hints dropped by the lawyer suggested the belief that more property was left behind by the decedent than has been generally surmised. Similar hints let fall by Attorney Rosen pointed at suicide as the true reason of the unexpected exit of Ritscher from this world last June.

Victims of the Attorney.

Those victims, including one man, who are said to have yielded their dollars by the hundreds and thousands to Ritscher are:

Mrs. Emma Weisenberg, $18,000.
Mrs. Clementine Wirth, $22,000.
Mrs. Amelia Bahner, $35,000.
Philip Dally, formerly manager for Mrs. Wirth, $10,000.

A North side widow, name unknown, but a friend of Mrs. Wirth and Mrs. Weisenberg, $30,000.

Agnes B. Schuler, $3,000.
Bonnetta C. Lyman, $1,800.

Mrs. Julia Henry McAlpin of Detroit is reported to hold a large claim against the dead lawyer's estate.

There are also said to be other women who intrusted their all to Ritscher.

Put a New Aspect on Story.

The discovery that widows were looked upon by the late Attorney Ritscher as "easy marks" has put a new aspect on the surprising story of Ritscher's alleged rascality. The money which he wheedled out of these widows was declared by lawyers to be trust funds and therefore will take precedence over any other debts his estate may owe.

GLADYS KERENS IS MARRIED.

Ambassador's Daughter Is Wedded to George H. Colmet of Philadelphia.

London, Sept. 3.—Miss Gladys Kerens, youngest daughter of Mr. Richard G. Kerens of St. Louis, United States ambassador at Vienna, was married today to Mr. George Hamilton Colmet, son of the late George H. Colmet of Philadelphia. The wedding took place in the church of St. John the Evangelist, in the little country village of Herons Ghyll in Sussex.

Steals Enough to Start Store.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 3.—John Young, a negro porter in a 5 and 10 cent store, was arrested charged with stealing $1,500 in goods from the store. The negro got enough to start a store of his own.

WESTERN UNION SHAKE-UP DUE.

Vail, It Is Said, Will Succeed Clowry as Company's Head.

New York, Sept. 3.—Wall street was full of rumors regarding an extensive upheaval in the Western Union Telegraph company, which would make Theodore N. Vail, president of the American Telegraph and Telephone company, succeed President Robert C. Clowry.

Murder Mystery Baffles.

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 3.—The police are attempting to unravel the mystery surrounding the finding of the body of a well-dressed man under the Ohio river bridge. Over 60 knife wounds were on the body. An Episcopal hymn book was found near by.

No Aid for Fire Fighters.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 3.—Secretary Ballinger said that the interior department has no authority to compensate volunteers trained in the fight against the forest fires or to care for the widows and orphans of those killed.

Aeroplane Note.

Aviators should look down and spectators look up, while everybody should look out.

The following is the money order report department of the Janesville post office for the week ending Sept. 3: No. of money orders issued, 67; amount, $1,223.87; No. of orders paid, 38; amount, $706.47.

Mr. L. Monatt of La Prairie has just finished threshing and his grain turns out the following number of bushels to the acre: Barley, 10; oats, 12; wheat, 10. His potato field he reports as yielding nothing.

The play of Hamlet by the Buchanan opera troupe at the opera house last night was well received by a critical audience. Mr. Buchanan showed his entire adaptation to the character he assumed and gave to the family of the tragedy many new and original effects. The audience this afternoon brought many women and children to witness Uncle Tom's Cabin. This evening will be performed the Indian Drama entitled "Nick of the Woods," or the "Jibbony" with Buchanan in six characters, and the five-act temperance drama of "Ten Nights in the Bar Room"—a double bill full of attractions.

Mr. Ernest Royer was the victim of the accident at Shepley mentioned in yesterday's paper. His arm was so badly crushed as to render it necessary to amputate at the shoulder, which operation was successfully performed by Drs. Trout and Bull. Mr. Royer was at work for a man named Joseph Briggs threshing broom corn by horsepower. His arm was caught in the threshing cylinder of the machine and in order to release him it was necessary to reverse the cylinder backward, subjecting the mangled member to further mutilation. He is doing as well as can be expected but there is no certainty of his recovery.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Monroe, Wis., Sept. 3.—A two-foot vein of gold ore has been discovered in the mine owned by Dr. N. A. Loof-bourne of this city, at Lost Lake mine, several miles from Eldora, Col. The vein was uncovered in a tunnel at a depth of 1,200 feet running at about 40 degrees to the horizontal. The doctor has been spending the past six weeks at the mine. The lodes were first discovered by William Davis on Bryan mountain at an elevation of 10,000 feet. Dr. Davis located the means to reach his proposition on account of the water encountered and on account of the elevation and for three years he labored in other mines in order to obtain the necessary means to carry on his own fortune hunting. Four years ago he met Dr. Loofbourne of this city, who was so convinced of the value of the working that he furnished the capital for the development of the mine. Fifteen men are now employed in the mine.

Raised Milk Price.

Patrons of the Borden Condensed Milk company of this city have been apprised of another raise over the contract price, this time of 20 cents, making a price of $1.55 as against the contract price of $1.35. This is the second raise which the patrons have had from the company. The August contract price was raised 15 cents. The company are aware of the poor crop conditions and scarcity of feed for the dairy herds and the raises are sincerely appreciated by all patrons.

Order Cups.

The school board has placed an order for one thousand aluminum collapsible drinking cups for the use of pupils in the public schools. Each cup will be expected to take care of the cup and keep it in his desk. If a cup is lost it must be replaced. The cup is intended to do away with the public drinking cup and were favored by the board in place of the bubble drinking fountain.

Bentley-Stauffacher.

Miss Chloe Bentley of Freeport, and Mr. Edward Stauffacher of Dutch Hollow were married in this city at the home of Fred Marty, in the presence of near relatives and friends by Rev. L. P. Kitchener. Upon their return from a short wedding trip they will start housekeeping on a farm owned by the groom in Dutch Hollow.

Dancing Party.

Shetone young ladies of the city gave a private dancing party to their gentlemen friends, the affair being held in the gymnasium. The hall was decorated with Japanese lanterns and golden glow and presented a very pretty background for the party. The party broke up at midnight and the dancers then were served with refreshments at the Rut Annex.

Personal Items.

Willis Dursat has accepted a position with the Minnesota Loan and Trust company of Minneapolis, and leaves this evening with his father, J. H. Dursat, for Minneapolis. He will be employed in the bookkeeping department. W. A. Dursat of this city is secretary of the company and has secured a number of the positions in the company for young Monroe people.

Dr. F. W. Byers and daughter, Miss Morna Byers, expect to leave the middle of the month for Pennsylvania, where the doctor will attend the reunion of the survivors of the battle of Gettysburg. The doctor's old home is at Oil City. He will also go to Buffalo.

Miss Nova West has returned to her home in La Crosse after a visit of several weeks with Miss Nellie Gorman.

Miss Nora Heltz has returned from a visit to friends in Milwaukee and Beaver Dam.

EXPLORED BARKING ABBEY

Workmen Excavating for New Street Find Subterranean Passage Leading From Old Edifice.

In the course of excavations for a new street at Barking a subterranean passage was discovered which had evidently led from the old abbey.

A workman, while digging at a depth of ten feet, drove his pick into some soft stone, and after the subsequent collapse of earth the passage was revealed. It was found that the pick had been driven through the arched ceiling of a stone-built passage some eight feet six inches high and about six feet wide. Exploring parties have investigated the interior by the aid of candle light. The walls were found to be damp and clammy, and the floor was covered with a thick carpet of spongy substance, into which the feet sank slightly. For a distance of nearly 20 yards the passage is clear, and at either end of this stretch it is blocked, in one case by a fall of earth and in the other case, presumably, by the character of the structure itself. Two smaller passages turn off the first passage, and in one of the side turnings there were found half a dozen human skulls and a quantity of bones. Among the latter is a number of jaw bones of horses or other large animals. All the bones and skulls are charred, and the walls of the passage also show traces of fire.

The Abbey of Barking is reported to have been built in A. D. 675 by Erkenwald, who afterwards became Bishop of London, and whose sister Ethelburga became first abbess at Barking. It was the first nunnery established in this country. In A. D. 870 the Danes destroyed it by fire, and it lay desolate for a century until restored by King Edgar. Many members of royal families were among its abbesses. From the fact that the main passage runs in the direction of Barking creek, a short distance away, it is believed to have afforded a channel of communication from the abbey to the waterway and thence to the Thames.—London Standard.

Phosphorus in Human Body.

When a photographer attempts to make a flashlight picture in a dark room he sometimes uses a long, thin, metallic ribbon that blazes with bluish intensity. There is a yard and a half of this metal in the body of the normal human being. Naturally, it is not in the form of a ribbon, but is scattered all through the cells in the shape of a metallic salt. The phosphorus and the magnesium ribbon are rather costly. Phosphorus is worth about one dollar a pound, and the match-making materials in the human tissues would sell for about $1.50 if weighed up over the drugstore's counter in his prescription scales. An ounce and a half of phosphorus costs 33 cents in the chemical markets.

This is Rather Neat.

An English critic of American social conditions says that men in this country are too much inclined to put women on pedestals. The only answer to such criticism is pity for the nation that has not such a beautifully decorative use for pedestals.

LIVELY TIME WITH PYTHON

Crew on British Gunboat Has Exciting Experience When Reptile Breaks Loose.

Once when the British gunboat Rattler was in eastern waters the crew had a lively time looking after a python on board that got loose.

Besides the python there was on board a big horned orangoutang. The python, which was 19 or 20 feet in length, having dined heartily on a deer about three weeks before, began to feel its appetite returning, and in searching about its box for a place of egress found, one side in bad repair. It did not take the python long to come through the weak part, and, quite unobserved, it began its perambulations around the boat.

Seeing the orangoutang chained up a few yards off, the big snake invited itself to a dinner very much to its taste. It would have been all over with the orangoutang had not the quartermaster at that moment made the discovery that the two pets were about to be merged into one. He promptly cut the orangoutang loose.

The latter was up the masthead before any mischief could be done, and a lieutenant, the proprietor of the orangoutang, the quartermaster, and a member of the crew flung themselves upon the hungry python—one at the head, another at the tail, and a third in the middle.

Then the fun began, for the python wanted to get one of the aggressors nicely in its coils, and the men were determined it should be kept out in something as nearly approaching a straight line as possible.

For a minute it was the Laocoon group all over again, only in this case the three men and the snake were sprawling over the deck instead of standing upright in a classic attitude.

Reinforcements, however, arrived in hot haste, and about 20 blue-jackets, each embracing a foot of python, reduced the reptile to comparative quiescence. The procession marched back to the python's box, called the creature inside, and shut it up. But the orangoutang sat aloft in the masthead a long time before he came to the conclusion that he was off the menu for the day.

Stone Fountains in Gardens.

No matter whether your garden is of the wide reaching Italian made sort or is just a natural bit of ground covered with untrained flowers, you should have a stone water basin in it. These artistically hewn rocks have become popular with the owners of country places, even small ones. One great merit of the pretty accessory is that it attracts birds.

Every Week More and More Sick People Are Coming to Us and Are Being Made Well

They have faith in the science of Chiropractic (Ki-ro-prak-tik) because it has been explained to them, because they have learned how logical its conclusions are, because they have taken a few adjustments and have seen immediately how this wonderful science WOULD REMOVE THE CAUSE of their disease. If you suffer come to us for an interview, come and learn the wonders of Chiropractic. We use no drugs, no mental healing, no surgeon's knife—nature never intended that these should be used on man to rid him of disease. Chiropractic is the adjustment of those parts which are out of order. A normal man or woman will not get sick. If your body is out of order, if certain functions do not perform their work, you get sick. Adjust those parts of the body which are not normal and nature asserts itself—you immediately get well in just the same way that you got sick. Remember, 98% of the cases that come to the Chiropractor are made well, and remember, too, that 75% of those who come to us have first tried the doctors, the surgeons, the faith cures, and what not? No other science can show such wonderful record as the Chiropractic Science. You can come to us and get an examination and advice free. We ask you to be made well. Will you come for a free consultation and advice as hundreds of others have done, or do you prefer to continue to suffer? Here is an outline of some of the many cases that come to us. All have been made well. Read these records.

J. N. PUDDICOMBE

Illustration No. 2 shows the first cervical vertebra of the neck out of place. This will cause Neuralgia in the head. A woman who had suffered for many years was in this condition. She came to us and we found that the subluxation was pinching the nerves and cutting off the nerve force. Several adjustments got it back in place and the lady was never troubled since with Neuralgia. A great many of these cases come to us. The subluxation is not always in the same place and the neuralgia is in the different parts of the body.

Illustration No. 3. A young man who had a bad fall and subluxated the second cervical of the neck shutting off the nerve forces to the brain and the result was he became violently insane; this was adjusted and the young man became rational again. The Chiropractors find a great many cases like this one where there is a slight subluxation at this same vertebra that causes people to become fanatics on any one subject but if they are not disturbed they will go along for a life time without doing any harm to anyone or any particular good, but if they are disturbed as in the case of Harry Shaw, when he was disturbed by White, actions which antagonized the peripheral end of the nerves running down his neck causing a muscular contraction of the neck putting a greater pressure on the main nerve to the brain, causing him to lose control of his mind and leaving him with nothing but murder on his brain. But after his arrest and laying in his cell a few days and being satisfied of the fact that he had gotten his revenge then his mind began to cool off, the irritation of the nerves ceased and the muscles of the neck relaxed and then he became rational again. But he will never be normal until he has this vertebra adjusted. And if this vertebra had been normal nothing would have caused him to murder White.

Illustration No. 4. A young man was deaf and suffered with catarrh for many years. We adjusted the third vertebra of his neck, freed the nerves to ears and head, and he is now free from catarrh and deafness.

Illustration No. 5. A boy with a bad case of tonsillitis was brought to our office and on examination we found fourth cervical vertebra of the neck subluxated and three adjustments removed the cause of his trouble and he is a well boy to day. It is a very easy matter to overcome these simple diseases, yet many children are allowed to get into very critical conditions. It simply proves the superiority of the Chiropractic science.

Illustration No. 6. A case of a lady with a bad cough and bronchitis caused by a subluxation of the 6th cervical vertebra pressing on the nerves running the bronchial tubes and causing severe coughing spells. This was readily overcome by adjusting the vertebra to normal position. Similar cases are of frequent occurrence and we have made many people well who were affected by the same trouble.

Illustration No. 7 shows the 7th vertebra of the neck out of place. A case in point is that of a man who had paralysis on one side and the heart was weak, caused by the subluxated vertebra pressing on the nerves leading to the brain and shutting off the nervous energy. By adjusting the vertebra, the normal condition was restored and the man was made well. We have a great many of these cases, and 98 per cent were made well.

CONSUMPTION AND BRONCHIAL TROUBLE.

Illustration No. 9. Consumption in a young man. The Case 9. Consumption in a young man. The second and third dorsal vertebrae were found in a lateral subluxated condition, drawing a pressure on the nerves that run the lungs, causing congestion of the lungs which threw the patient into consumption. By replacing the vertebra and removing the pressure from these nerves it gives nature a chance to restore perfect health. We have had a large per cent of these cases, and all were either made well or much benefited.

Consumption is not contagious, as very many people associate with these cases daily, and yet are no more liable to contract this disease than men engaged in other callings. Bronchitis is started with a cold or catarrhal condition of the head, the discharge therefrom running down the bronchial tubes which irritates the nerves and causing contraction of the muscles which produces a subluxation of the first and second dorsal vertebra. The result is Bronchitis. By replacing these dorsal vertebrae we restore the natural condition and the disease disappears immediately.

Eye Diseases.

Illustration No. 10. Lady blind most of time for 5 years; tumor on one side of eye balls. The vertebrae of the first and second cervical were shutting off the nerves leading to eyes. She suffered intensely. These vertebrae were adjusted to normal position and she regained her sight and became well. Cases of eye diseases of various kinds are brought to us. All have been made well when adjustments were taken. We find that pressure on the nerves leading to different parts of the eye causes the different diseases; so the dislocation is not always at the same place in the spine.

DISEASES OF STOMACH.

Illustration No. 11. A nationally known man suffered with dyspepsia and indigestion for many years. Adjusted the vertebra of the spine at 5th, 6th and 7th dorsal vertebrae, restoring the nervous energy to the stomach, and he can now eat any kind of food without trouble. Hundreds of my cases are of this nature. All are made entirely well and at a smaller cost than you would pay to a doctor, without getting permanent relief.

Illustration No. 12. Prominent bowels. A man found he had a weak heart and that the bowels were not regular. He sold out his business expecting to retire. He finally called on us and we found 2nd and 4th dorsal vertebrae subluxated. By replacing vertebrae we removed the pressure from

DISEASES OF HEART.

Illustration No. 12. Prominent bowels. A man found he had a weak heart and that the bowels were not regular. He sold out his business expecting to retire. He finally called on us and we found 2nd and 4th dorsal vertebrae subluxated. By replacing vertebrae we removed the pressure from heart nerves which restored it to normal, and the man was made well immediately. This man went back into active business. We have a great many cases of weak heart, and usually we are compelled to remove some other lesion where there is a congestion, to lighten the work of the heart.

BILLIOUSNESS, ENLARGED LIVER AND MALARIA.

Illustration No. 13. A successful plumber had enlarged liver from a contracted fever of malarial. Severe cramps were always felt. When examined by the Chiropractor the cause of the disease was immediately located. This case was entirely overcome by adjusting spine at 7th, 8th and 9th dorsal vertebrae, thus loosening the nerves to liver, forcing new energy.

In biliousness the liver is often overworked by eating more food than needed, and then when it can supply no more, it is forced into activity by laxatives, until the trouble ends in chronic constipation. These people can all become well by Chiropractic Adjustment, freeing nerves to liver and bowels. I have more of these cases than any other kind. It takes considerable time when case is chronic, but can always be successfully handled. If laxatives are continued or stimulants it will end in stroke of paralysis.

ASTHMA.

There is not a disease known but what a greater per cent of them can be overcome by Chiropractic Adjustment than by any other method.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—

I am 50 years of age and for the past twelve years have been a constant sufferer from Nervousness, Constipation and Stomach Trouble. During the time of my illness I have treated with a great number of prominent physicians, have dosed with drugs, patent medicines, etc. From time to time I would get a little temporary relief, but every experience made me feel less and less hopeful of ever getting my health back. In the early part of the present spring I was for seven weeks laid up and unable to work. I had read and heard from others of the work that the Chiropractors was doing but was skeptical about his claims being fulfilled. As a last resort I concluded to give him a trial. The result of that decision has been what I have so long sought, HEALTH. In less than a week after I submitted to the Chiropractic adjustments I was able to work and in three weeks' time was enjoying better health than for 12 years. I cannot too strongly recommend the Chiropractor and the wonderful curative value of the Chiropractic Science. P. W. PHILLY, 1262 Porter Ave.
